

Criminal damage to speed cameras in Cornwall – two arrests made

Police investigating criminal damage to speed cameras in Cornwall have made two arrests.

Two men in their 30s, one from the Falmouth area and one from the Porthleven area, have been arrested on suspicion of criminal damage and are currently in police custody.

As part of ongoing enquiries, officers from the Road Safety Team and the neighbourhood teams from Truro and Falmouth have carried out a number of property searches and have seized several vehicles.

The investigation is looking into reports of criminal damage to static speed cameras in Tregolls Road, Truro, and at Perranarworthal.

Inspector Tim Evans said: “We continue to urge the community to report any suspicious activity or share information that might help our enquiries.

“If you witnessed the incident or have any information or dashcam footage that could help with enquiries, please contact police via our website here or by calling 101 quoting 50240001590.

“Alternatively, independent charity Crimestoppers can be contacted anonymously online at Crimestoppers-uk.org or by calling freephone 0800 555111.”
